

Process for the Production of Aminodiphenylamines

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

The present invention relates to a process for the production of aminodiphenylamines, such as 4-aminodiphenylamine (4-ADPA), by reacting nitrohalogenated benzenes with anilines in the presence of a base as well as a copper-phosphorus complex, followed by hydrogenation of the intermediately formed nitrodiphenylamines.